Alliance Man Held In Chain Of Swindles

Curtiss E. Crist Is Arrested by Miami Authorities

CANTON, Ohio (AP) — Police have started extradition proceedings against a former Alliance insurance man picked up in Miami, Fla., and charged with bilking a Canton man of $73,000.

In Florida, Lt. Douglas Stone of the Dade County sheriff's department said the man's operations could run into the millions of dollars.

Arrested on a warrant supplied by Canton police was Curtiss E. Crist, 40.

Stone said he had "names of 78 people in Florida and Puerto Rico alone where he (Crist) allegedly obtained a cash total of $1,300,000 in the last three or four years."

"The final total may reach $3 million," he said.

The lieutenant said Crist allegedly bilked people by selling them notes on which he promised to pay 4 per cent interest per month.

The money was to be invested in a car rental business, Crist would tell his victims, Stone said.

"He would get $5,000 from the investor, give him a note with interest and promise to pay it back in a year."

"However, when the note expired, instead of repaying the money he would give the investor another note."

Signed by Canton Man

A warrant was signed by Paul Hutchison, who said he had worked with Crist in a Canton insurance office over a five-year period.

Hutchison said "a good many people in this area, possibly 20 or 30, invested."

Hutchison's warrant accuses Crist of obtaining money under false pretenses.

Authorities in Miami said Crist was held on a fugitive warrant resulting from Hutchison's warrant and also on a bench warrant in connection with a civil suit.

Stone said Crist was arrested at a lawyer's office allegedly while trying to set up another deal. The F. Troy Cope, Jr., an official of the Electric Furnace Co., has been elected president of the Board of Directors of the Memorial Building. He succeeds Robert Campbell, who has served as president for the past four years.

Miss Virginia Snyder, a school teacher, replaces Howard Firestone as vice-president, a position he has held for two years.

Re-elected were L. H. Colley, treasurer; and Charles F. Tomlinson, secretary and building manager.

Other directors are Lester Bateman, Robert Campbell, Howard Firestone and John Hochadel.

In other business at its reorganization meeting Tuesday, the Memorial Building board adopted a budget of $34,162.50 for 1961.

This is down slightly from the 1960 budget of $34,750.

The United Fund contribution to the upkeep and maintenance of the community center is $14,062.

Other estimated income for 1961 includes: From public dinners, $10,000; athletic program, $2,000; interest, $4,000; rent, $600; miscellaneous, $500; from capital improvements fund, $3,000.

Expenditures include: Administrative, $11,390; capital expenditures planned, $3,000; athletic programs, $2,400; dining room supplies, $4,800; utilities, $2,400; building maintenance and repairs, $3,552.

Tomlinson reported that $2,074.04 was spent for construction of outside doors and 125 for a new electrical panel, recent improvements at the Memorial Building.

Soothing for Prisoners, But Not for Sheriff

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — A grand jury has recommended that soft, gentle music be piped into the Lucas County Jail, and that a light-colored paint be used on cell walls to add to the soothing effect.

The outgoing county grand jury made its recommendations in a report filed with the prosecutor.

Sheriff William Hirsch said he didn't want to seem old fashioned, but any music piped into the jail would have to be pretty soft. It might drown out the sound of cell bars being sawed.

Dag Puts His Future Up to U.N.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld left his fate in the hands of the United Nations General Assembly today with a standing offer to resign, but there seemed no prospect that a majority of the members would accept.

Hammarskjöld made his show-down move during the assembly's Congo debate Wednesday in an obvious maneuver to take the sting out of repeated Soviet bloc demands that he step down.

Judging from the applause he received at the close of his unscheduled address, most delegates want him to stay on.

Hammarskjöld, who has been under mounting Communist attack since Soviet Premier Khrushchev demanded his resignation last fall, stood by his previous vow not to yield to the Red demand unless the assembly asks him to quit.

The U.N. executive also made clear he would consider silence from the assembly to mean he should remain in office.

He told the delegates: "I do not consider that I am entitled to present the General Assembly with a fait accompli by resigning because I have been requested to do so by a big power and its like-minded supporters."

"On the other hand, I regard the will of the General Assembly in this respect as my law, and the General Assembly may thus consider itself as seized with a standing offer of resignation were it to find it to be in the interest of the organization that I leave."

But, he added, if the assembly does not ask for his resignation, he must conclude that "you neither expect me to proceed on the basis of that offer, nor desire in any other way to avail yourselves of the possibility it opens."

Hammarskjöld's term of office does not expire until April 1963.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Richard Wagner, the new president of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce, is "a pot-bellied, sawed-off little man with a big voice."

If the description seems unflattering, it is Wagner's assessment of his own image on the occasion of his election as the chamber's 34th president.

Wagner, 64, is chairman of the board and chief executive officer of the Champlin Oil and Refining Co., Chicago. He said today he may have to revise part of the title because his one-year stand as chamber president, which begins May 2, will leave him little time for company affairs.

Sgt. York's Tax Woes Relieved

Thousands Donate To Aid War Hero

WASHINGTON (AP) — Lots of people—kindly people, sympathetic people, rich and poor, young and old, high and low — have helped Sgt. Alvin York solve his federal income tax problem.

Letters by the thousands have poured in from people wanting to contribute to the $25,000 fund needed to wipe out the World War I hero's tax debt.

The goal now has been reached and hundreds of letters are yet to be opened.

This national outpouring of good will to a man who served his country well has touched Capitol Hill where much of the mail these days is of the pressure or "gimmie" type.

"These people are giving — not asking," said Rep. Joe L. Evins, D-Tenn., treasurer for the York Tax Fund Campaign. Speaker Sam Rayburn, D-Tex., touched off the drive two weeks ago with a $1,000 donation.

There have been a few other big donations since then. But for every one of these there have been hundreds of $1 and $2 donations. Some sent pennies.

Who contributed? Here are some samples:

From Denver: "Dear Sirs — I am enclosing only $1 to the Sgt. York fund. I am 81 and don't have much so excuse the small sum. Very sincerely. An old woman."

Scholarship Plan to Aid Ohioans Proposed

By DUANE E. CROFT

COLUMBUS — The Ohio House education committee has approved a new approach to helping young Ohioans go to college.

It voted unanimously Wednesday night in favor of setting up a corporation to guarantee up to 80 per cent of bank loans to students.

The guaranteed portion of the loans would be limited to $1,000 a year for each student, with a maximum total of $5,000 to one person.

If the General Assembly passes the bill and approves a requested $300,000 appropriation, the program could be kicked off with loans to 4,500 or more students.

Co-sponsored by Rep. Jess Dempster, D-Tuscarawas, with another Democrat and two Republicans, the bill provides for a 5½ per cent interest rate with one-half per cent going back into the loan guarantee fund.

Rep. Robert Reckman, R-Hamilton, another co-sponsor, told the committee this is similar to FHA financing for homes.

Leetonia Gas Rate Rejected

Ordinance Faces Further Study

LEETONIA — An ordinance calling for a gas rate increase here was rejected by Village Council in a 3 to 1 vote when the measure was introduced Wednesday night.

Councilman Joseph Weikart cast the dissenting vote. He explained that a more detailed expense report by the Ohio Fuel Gas Co. should be presented to Council in an effort to determine if the increase is justified.

Council will meet with Charles Wright, gas company representative, to study the proposal further and it is likely that the ordinance may be re-submitted for a first reading at the next Council meeting.

Consumers to be affected by the new gas rate will be the minimum and non-heating users, in which cases, rates are expected to be doubled. The present rate will expire May 1.

Both Break Into Sobs on Hearing Verdict

Attorneys Make 'Hopeless' Motion For Another Trial

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "We'll fight it, darling, we're still alive." Wet-eyed and grateful a jury had spared their lives, Dr. R. Bernard Finch so consoled Carole Tregoff Wednesday after a third murder trial jury decreed life imprisonment for the once wealthy surgeon and his red-haired mistress.

Finch and Carole—convicted of murdering the playboy doctor's socialite wife — broke into sobs when the 10 men and 2 women of the jury decided after a dozen suspenseful hours to send the lovers to prison and not to the gas chamber.

Carole Cries At Verdict

Carole, at 24 no longer the tawny beauty she was two years ago as Finch's pampered mistress, cried at the verdict: "No, no, I'll be an old woman when I get out."

Finch, 43, dropped his head on his folded arms and cried until the counsel table in the packed courtroom was wet with tears.

Then he said to his attorney: "Thank God, thank God."

Thus after three trials, a year and a half of suspense and an estimated $750,000 of taxpayers' money, did one of the most publicized murder cases of recent years come to a dramatic conclusion.

Parole Possible In 7 Years

Under California law, Finch and his now plumpish paramour will be eligible for parole, depending on their prison record, in seven years—1968.

The case was front page news from the chilly morning of July 19, 1959, when the body of Barbara Jean Finch, 36—a bullet in the back—was discovered on the lawn next to the Finch estate in suburban West Covina.

In the three trials—the first two ended in jury deadlocks—Finch

Board Cuts Staffs For May Primaries

As an economy measure, the County Election Board today ordered a reduction in personnel from six to four in 31 precincts in six subdivisions where only special elections or one-party primaries will be held May 2.

The board's order affects Leetonia village, Lisbon village, Salineville village, the Lisbon Exempted village school district, Southern Local school district and the Perry and Salem Township precincts of the Salem City School District.

It will result in a saving of $1,488 in payroll costs which will be passed on to the subdivisions, as they are charged the entire expense of elections—except poll books—in the odd number years or in special elections.

Frank R. O'Hanlon, clerk of the board, said the "economy plan" of reducing precinct personnel is authorized by state law.

The staffs in the 31 affected precincts will be paid $12, the figure set by state law in cases where they are working on a special election or a one-party primary. The regular pay rate for precinct officials is $16. The savings total $48 per precinct.

Two party primaries with full six-member precinct staffs will be held in the four cities—Salem, East Liverpool, Wellsville and East Palestine.

The reduction in personnel in the Salem area precincts affects only those in the township section of the city's school district, O'Hanlon emphasized. Under the Ohio "no contest" law party primaries are skipped at Columbiana and Lisbon.

Bill Would Permit Utilities To Appeal Zoning Decisions

By DUANE E. CROFT
Salem News Staff Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio — A controversial bill to permit utilities to appeal local zoning decisions to the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio has been sent to a subcommittee for compromise revision.

The action came Wednesday after several spokesmen for Ohio cities told the Senate Judiciary Committee the bill in its present form would play havoc with home-rule control over local planning.

They declared that proper zoning is vital to orderly development of urban areas and only local officials understand the problems each community faces.

The bill under consideration would give control to officials in Columbus who do not understand the local problems they said. This would put an unfair burden on local officials to support their decisions before the PUCO and the Supreme Court of Ohio, the cities' spokesmen added.

At a previous hearing the utility representative told the committee the PUCO could make wiser decisions than local boards on the companies' plans for regional or statewide expansion.

They contended strictly local decisions often interfere with the most efficient and economical placement of plants, terminals and transmission lines. This the companies said would result in higher costs to consumers.

Sen. J. E. Simpson, R-Forest, sponsor of the bill was appointed chairman of the subcommittee. He indicated in questioning witnesses that a compromise between the cities' and the utilities' positions can be worked out.

The committee was also scheduled to hold its second hearing on a bill to revise Ohio's Annexation laws, but did not get to it. It will be scheduled for next week.

Ohio House Okays Code of Ethics Bill

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A code of ethics bill barring state officials and legislators from acts which might conflict with their official duties has passed the Ohio House without a dissenting vote.

The conflict-of-interest measure first was proposed two years ago by Democratic Gov. Michael V. DiSalle. It now goes to the Senate.

Things were not so unanimous in the Senate Wednesday, however. The political pot boiled over with controlling Republicans losing their long-pent-up wrath on the governor who has been pot-shooting the legislature for weeks.

Senate Majority Leader C. Stanley Mechem, R-Athens, was the star witness in defense of the legislature in an extraordinary 45 minutes of free-wheeling debate.

If the legislature is lobby-ridden, as DiSalle charges, Mechem declared, part of the fault rests with the governor's own cabinet members. He singled out Highway Director Everett S. Preston for conducting what Mechem called "the most vicious lobby I have ever seen."

THE BOMBARDMENT of Fort Sumter as seen from the Confederate battery in Fort Johnson on April 13, 1861.

GUNS IN THE MAIN casement battery of Fort Sumter fire at Fort Moultrie on April 12. From a drawing by Thomas Nast.

By PHILIP VAN DOREN STERN
Written for Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

It was the dark of the moon on April 12, 1861, and clouds hung heavily over Charleston Harbor. Shortly before 1 a.m. a shot from a deck cannon announced the arrival of a small steamer in the waters near Fort Sumter.

In a few minutes the Federal sentry on the landing wharf heard the sound of oars. He shouted a challenge into the black night and was answered by a reassuring voice. Then he saw a boat with a white flag of truce approaching. In it were four Confederate emissaries from Charleston's military commander, Gen. P. G. T. Beauregard.

They came ashore with a message from the Confederate secretary of war in Montgomery, ordering the guns around the harbor to fire on Fort Sumter unless the Federal forces agreed to evacuate it. Word had reached the South that a Federal fleet was on its way with supplies—and perhaps reinforcements—for the little garrison. The ships were due to arrive in the morning.

MAJ. ROBERT ANDERSON, the unhappy Southern-born officer in command of Fort Sumter, called a conference of his officers. After more than two hours of deliberation, he replied in writing, offering to evacuate the fort on April 15 if he did not receive instructions from Washington to the contrary or get supplies for his hungry men.

With Federal ships nearing the fort, the Confederates regarded the qualifications unsatisfactory. They also put their answer in writing, notifying the major that their batteries would open fire in one hour.

It was then 3:20 a.m.

Anderson, obviously deeply moved by the announcement, accompanied the Confederate emissaries to their boat. He shook hands with them, saying:

"If we never meet in this world, God grant that we meet in the next."

The boat left the wharf and headed for Fort Johnson, where the gunners were told to begin firing at 4:30. The men in Fort Sumter settled down in darkness (there was no oil for the lamps) to await the shot that would break relations between the seceded states and the national government.

At exactly 4:30, a 10-inch mortar shell went up from Fort Johnson. It curved gracefully across the night sky and burst with a loud bang directly over Fort Sumter. The other forts around the harbor soon joined in, sending shell after shell at the fort.

The American Civil War had begun.

SOME CONTEMPORARY newspaper accounts say that two shots were fired from Fort Sumter when the Confederate attack started. But Anderson did not begin a serious counter-bombardment until seven o'clock. Guns then roared around the harbor for hours as shots were exchanged. But the stout brickwork of Sumter and the well-protected Confederate batteries stood up against the hail of metal that rained down on them.

People crowded the waterfront streets of Charleston to watch the great spectacle and hear the sullen booming of the guns. Three or four of the Federal relief ships had arrived and were waiting outside the harbor. When some of the wooden buildings in Sumter were set on fire by the shelling, and columns of smoke rose above the fort, many spectators thought that Anderson was signaling to the fleet to come to his aid. The fires were put out three times by the men in the fort, but the ships remained outside, held back by blundering in Washington and a natural reluctance to run past the heavy guns of the Confederate forts.

THE SHELLS FROM the 48 guns in the Confederate forts cracked away slabs of Sumter's masonry, knocked guns off their carriages, and wrecked interior buildings. Firing went on all through the day and the following night, when mortar shots were fired at regular intervals in the wind and rain.

On the second day, April 13, the weather cleared. By this time, Sumter was in bad shape. Its garrison was still unharmed, but food and ammunition were running dangerously low, and the fort was badly damaged. The Confederates now dropped red-hot shot on the wooden buildings inside the fort, setting them on fire again. The hot flames and acrid smoke made life almost untenable for the garrison, and the possibility that the powder magazine might explode was very real. About one o'clock, a shot knocked down the flagstaff. Four men carried a long spar up to the parapet under heavy fire. There they tied it upright on a gun carriage and ran up the flag again.

THE FALL OF THE flag led former Sen. Louis Wigfall of Texas to believe that the fort was ready to surrender. He went to the fort in a small boat and climbed through a gunport. He then succeeded in persuading Major Anderson to surrender. A mix-up followed when other Confederates, seeing a white flag appear, came over to dispute Wigfall's authority, but matters were finally cleared up. Anderson was to be permitted to march out the next day with honors of war and to salute his flag when he left.

After 34 hours of bombardment, during which more than 3,000 shells had been fired at the fort, by some miracle no one had been killed or seriously wounded in Sumter or in the Confederate forts and batteries. The only casualty was a horse which had been killed by a shell from Sumter.

ON SUNDAY, when Major Anderson led his 128 men out of the fort with colors flying and drums beating, his gunners began to fire a 100-round salute to the flag. During it, one of the cannon misfired, killing one man, mortally wounding another, and injuring four more. The salute was cut to 50 guns, and Anderson and his troops then embarked on a ship that took them to one of the Federal steamers outside the harbor. Four days later they arrived in New York where they were greeted as heroes.

They were not the only troops to be cheered in New York that day, for the Sixth Massachusetts Regiment was passing through the city. It was to receive its baptism of fire in the streets of Baltimore the next day with a loss of four men.

All over the country men were rushing to enlist. North and South were both sure the war would be a short and easy one.

No one would believe that its end was four terrible years away, and that 600,000 men were to die in it.

Council Wins the Match 4-3

There were no "yes" men in City Council Tuesday night.

The issue was whether to spend an estimated $17,073 on the construction of three new tennis courts at Centennial Park. The battle lines already had been drawn to some extent because of prior discussion but it was not until the proposition was finally put to a vote that proponents were beaten 4 to 3. It was no love match, to use tennis vernacular.

It was only the second time in many years that Council had defeated a measure on the floor.

There may be many sports enthusiasts who are sorry that it had to be at the expense of tennis courts but, short of being called a turncoat to the game we once enjoyed, amateurishly, $17,073 seems like a heavy expenditure for the construction of tennis courts when funds are limited.

In favor of the Park Commission and City Recreational Director Rusty Tomlinson is the fact that voters did approve a half-mile park operating levy and the words "tennis courts" was included in the proposition wording on the ballots.

Council, however, authorizes the expenditures and it is apparent from its decision Tuesday night that it would like to see other park improvements given higher priority. We have contended all along that unless further work is done at Memorial Park at the north edge of the city, that park — 10 years hence — will still consist of two small ball diamonds and an ice skating pond.

It is entirely possible that Council will reconsider the tennis court program next year if there is some evidence this summer of other park improvements.

A Limit to Expectations

The department of economic and social affairs of the United Nations is on record with a fresh prediction of three billion people in the world by the end of 1960.

Some of the department's observations are interesting, such as the observation that far too many of the earth's people insist on "rising expectations" likely to materialize, crowding into cities where there aren't enough jobs, schools and houses to give them a decent existence.

The department has reached an interesting conclusion about the galloping increase in world population — that it is going hand in hand with a "revolution of rising expectations." People throughout the world are looking forward to more abundant lives than their fathers and mothers had. Yet in only a few places are their lives appreciably better. And in only a few places are their "rising expectations" likely to materialize.

Percentage-wise, improvement is being made in the Soviet Union faster than anywhere else. But in absolute terms, the best places to live are the United States, Canada and West Germany, where people live better and work less hard than anywhere else.

MEANWHILE, people in the Far East, Africa and Latin America are restlessly wishing for something better than they ever knew before, but without the benefits of industrialization their prospects of getting something better are not bright.

Moreover, if they are not relieved of the nagging necessity of feeding millions of new mouths each year, they will find themselves in a losing contest.

Medical science has learned how to lengthen the life span even in backward countries; which simply means more food to be consumed. And it has not learned, unfortunately, how to increase the sum total of human happiness, with the effect that many of the additional years bestowed on human beings are unhappy ones.

There is even a comment about housing — that even where it is most nearly adequate it is unable to overcome chronic shortages. Europe and North America, with the best housing, are still confronted with chronic housing shortages. Nowhere else in the world is housing even close to adequate.

THE MEMORABLE thing in the report is the round figure, however — three billion people by the end of 1961. The United States will have perhaps 182 million of the total, or about 6 per cent, which is a sobering thought for Americans who like to think of themselves as wielding a crowbar that can move the world this way and that way at will.

How to Drive Management Crazy

There is beginning to be happy-talk psychology instead of the gloomy-talk psychology that helped to slow down the economic pace in midwinter. But talking boom isn't going to be as easy as talking gloom.

Business decisions that make the economy boom must be based on reasonable expectation of profit in a profit-and-loss system. People who make these decisions can't afford to be wrong about spending money to make money, though they sometimes have considerable latitude about not spending money in the hope of saving it when the economy is slowing down.

A thought in connection with this hard-headed attitude about money might make yfom for members of labor unions i things get going good again in places where jobs have been disappearing.

If they want to drive management crazy, they will learn to think about its problems in the same profit-and-loss terms that management uses.

THEY WILL TRY to beat management to the punch with ideas for helping management make more money when there's money for members of labor unions if money's being lost.

Specifically, members of labor unions will insist that their spokesmen come to grips with the problem of over-accelerated automation — the kind that leaves workers high and dry when it goes too fast and too far.

Automation, itself, is part of the profit-and-loss system.

Decisions to supplant human labor with automated energy and skill are made in the expectation of profit and in the near-certainty of loss if the decisions aren't made.

The decisions to supplant human labor are speeded up whenever the labor becomes so expensive it is no match for a machine that promises to bring down production costs. Too-high wage rates subsidize automation.

MANAGEMENT decides to automate to make a profit, not to cut out employment opportunities. Management's job is to make a profit.

If it became part of labor's job to help management make a profit, a lot of automation that otherwise would be spurred by necessity would be postponed long enough to guarantee a reasonably orderly transition and less technological unemployment, or as it's being called these days — structural employment, meaning the permanent kind caused by changes in the economic structure.

Why Do We Have to Do This the Hard Way?

Birth of New Frontier

By DAVID WISE

Arthur M. Schlesinger Jr., now a new frontiersman, tells how the phrase "New Deal" was born over hot dogs and coffee, in Albany, N.Y., the third week in June, 1932.

The origin of the phrase "New Frontier" 28 years later is one of the most closely-held secrets of the Kennedy administration. But it can now be reported here for the first time that the "New Frontier" was born over ginger ale and hors d'oeuvres at a cocktail party in Boston, the third week in June, 1960.

Samuel I. Rosenman, an adviser to President Roosevelt, is credited by Mr. Schlesinger with inserting the words "New Deal" in Mr. Roosevelt's acceptance speech at Chicago.

Walt W. Rostow, an adviser to President Kennedy, is responsible for inserting the phrase "New Frontier" into Mr. Kennedy's acceptance speech at Los Angeles. As Schlesinger reports it, Roosevelt and Rosenman waited in Albany, working away at odd moments to cut down the draft of the acceptance speech written by Raymond Moley.

"After listening to the all-night balloting, Rosenman, nervous and restless, retired with hot dogs and a pot of coffee to try his hand at writing the peroration which he half thought would never be used."

"It was then that Rosenman . . . set down the sentence, 'I pledge you, I pledge myself, to a new deal for the American people.'"

LIKE THE WORDS "new deal," the phrase "new frontier," is not unusual, or necessarily original. Both phrases were used in literature before they were used in politics.

Dr. Rostow, the originator of the "New Frontier," used a variation of the phrase himself in his book "The Stages of Economic Growth," published a year ago. On page 134 of the book, the phrase "new peaceful frontiers" appears.

This is the way the "New Frontier" became the symbol of John F. Kennedy's presidency:

All last spring, Dr. Rostow, an economic historian at Massachusetts Institute of Technology and one of the organizers of the wartime OSS, toiled away for Mr. Kennedy as one of the key behind-the-scenes braintrusts in what came to be known as the "Cambridge group."

Later during the campaign it was Dr. Rostow, now deputy special assistant to the President for national security affairs, who drafted the basic outlines of Mr. Kennedy's speeches on military policy.

As the Democratic National Convention in July loomed closer, Sen. Kennedy was confident of nomination and work began on an acceptance speech.

ON JUNE 18 one of the members of the Kennedy academic advisory group threw a cocktail party at a Boston apartment. Sen. Kennedy was invited but no one was sure he would be able to come.

Most of the members of the "Cambridge group" were there and the party was going full steam when the door opened and Mr. Kennedy walked in accompanied by Prof. Archibald Cox, of Harvard Law School, a leader of the "Cambridge group" and now United States solicitor general.

Scotch was flowing but Sen. Kennedy ordered, and got, ginger ale. He was mobbed by well-wishers.

One of them, Dr. Rostow, managed to zero in and get the candidate's ear. Dr. Rostow began talking animatedly to Mr. Kennedy. Prof. Cox drifted off.

Boiling down, what Dr. Rostow was telling Sen. Kennedy was this:

"I've got the slogan—The New Frontier. The party swirled around but Dr. Rostow kept talking. Sen. Kennedy listened with interest. (Later, after his nomination and election, he told an aide that it was the single most important idea of the campaign.)"

Following the cocktail party, Mr. Kennedy asked his staff for drafts of an acceptance speech. Several were submitted: two contained the phrase "New Frontier"; one was written by Dr. Rostow and the other by Max Freedman, Washington correspondent of the Manchester "Guardian." Sen. Kennedy liked the phrase; it stayed in.

So it was that when the Democratic candidate for President of the United States appeared before cheering thousands in the Los Angeles Coliseum the night of July 15 to deliver his acceptance speech, he said:

"We stand today on the edge of a New Frontier—the frontier of the 1960s. . . . Are we up to the task? Are we equal to the challenge?" Over a ginger ale, a new frontier was born.

Peace Corps Puzzle

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Same Work Now Being Done by Missionaries

Many Americans are puzzled by President Kennedy's proposal to send a Peace Corps of young people abroad. They are puzzled because virtually the same work is already being done by Americans in the mission groups. What will the "Peace Corps" do that isn't being done now? There is need, David Lawrence of course, for more work in this field but the new Peace Corps will be doing only a fraction of it.

The Kennedy plans calls for the spending of somewhere between $5 million and $10 million a year. Yet the Protestant churches of America are spending approximately $163 million a year and the Catholic churches of this country, it is estimated, are spending at least $40 million a year on foreign missions.

According to the latest figures, there are 26,000 Americans serving as Protestant missionaries abroad and about 6,700 of the Catholic faith.

There are also 20,000 more missionaries from other Christian countries.

These missionaries do not spend most of their time teaching religion. On the contrary, they teach school and also trades. They build hospitals, furnish medical aid, educate doctors and nurses, train native leaders in administration work, develop social-welfare programs and supply technical skills. Many are agricultural experts who show farmers how to handle their farms and increase the yields.

Most of the missionaries are married but quite a number are young people.

The Methodist Board of Missions, for instance, recruits about 125 young people a year to serve for three-year periods and in this project stresses languages and special skills.

It might be thought that help is extended only to those natives who agree to become members of a certain faith but this isn't so.

THIS CORRESPONDENT asked Dr. Darby Fulton, of Nashville, Tenn. — head of the Board of World Missions of the Southern Presbyterian Church — whether any condition was imposed on those given help by the missionaries. He replied:

"Not at all, so far as their religious affiliation is concerned. We take them into our schools and — of course, if we are looking for teachers to come in and instruct people in our schools, we get Christians to do that — but so far as the facilities of the schools are concerned, in the admission of pupils, there is no religious condition."

"We take Buddhists, Confucianists, Animists — any religion — or any irreligious group. Many go out without ever confessing any Christian faith or even showing any signs of being influenced definitely in that direction."

The money for these missions is contributed in the churches throughout the United States, as collections are taken regularly for the benefit of the projects abroad.

This has been going on for many decades. In fact, American churches started sending missions to points outside the United States as early as 1809.

There are many hundreds of thousands of natives abroad today who learned English and gained their education through the missionary teachers.

THE WORK done in China is pointed to as an example of the effectiveness of missions. Before the Red Chinese took over, there were approximately 600,000 Christians, and today, even under Communist rule, many Chinese still attend Christian services regularly.

It is in the field of general education and economic welfare that the work of the American missionaries has been widespread but apparently it has not been publicized adequately.

Today many persons who have been reading about the Kennedy Peace Corps are assuming that the idea is new and that nothing like it has ever been set up before.

It is true that no governmental agency has hitherto tried the plan but it is also true that the American missionaries have always been loyal to the basic doctrines of the governmental system of the United States and the ideals of democracy.

The missionary work is of a wide variety. Catholic missions, for instance, have developed among their projects the setting up of credit unions. Poor people pool their money and are enabled to purchase equipment such as farm tools or fishing nets.

The Evangelical Foreign Mission Association has 5,000 missionaries in 90 countries, 1,500 of whom are women — principally teachers and nurses.

THERE IS TALK of expanding the Kennedy Peace Corps some day to about 10,000 but this would still be a small part of the ever-growing missionary group of the United States, which is already more than 44,000.

There is, to be sure, among some church people today a bit of uneasiness about the Kennedy Peace Corps. Its objectives are lauded, but there is concern as to whether churchgoers will contribute as generously to mission work hereafter as they have been doing if they begin to feel that the federal government is taking over this philanthropy.

Much of the appeal of the mission groups for funds has been that the work done abroad is not only on the religious side but in humanitarian, social and economic fields irrespective of religious teaching.

The Peace Corps idea has many things in its favor but it may bring new problems for the American missionaries abroad, who, of course, will try to be helpful to their fellow Americans but will have to steer clear of any political entanglements as they render their own kind of humanitarian and economic aid.

Just Quit Quibbling

By TRUMAN TWILL

This is the off-season for sports; nothing is going on. Football players haven't started spring practice. Basketball players are resting up from tournament extravaganzas. Baseball players are still beating the publicity drums, hoping to stir up a crowd.

Thin-clads who will have a brief instant in the sun, they hope, are holed up in the dressing rooms, waiting for the weather to moderate. Faculty managers are counting the money.

The basketball scandals have turned out no worse than ordinary. Baseball is in a period of change, but no one pays the attention to baseball that basketball gets. Baseball is all professional. It's only in amateur sports any more that things must be watched closely. It's like gambling. If it's a crime to gamble everybody must be regarded with suspicion as a lawbreaker. But if it isn't a crime to gamble, no one needs to be watched because everybody is inside the law.

It brings up the best idea I've ever heard of settling the problem of athletes in this country who ask money for playing games.

The idea is to pay them and quit quibbling.

Get rid of the idea that an athlete who takes money above the table is honest and an athlete who takes it under the table is dishonest.

As for college and high school athletes who feel like being students, let them attend classes and go as far as they are able to go in school. But skip the flub-dubbery about making nonstudent athletes attend classes. Separate students from stand-ins. Dump the pretense that a major in physical education is the same as a major in science.

Concede that winning teams are good advertising for alma mater and hire the best team money can buy, which is the way it's done now, except that the point about winning teams isn't conceded.

Then to clear the air, divide all colleges and universities into two groups by the voluntary decision of their own boards of trustees—the commercial athletic group and the noncommercial athletic group.

Members of the latter group would have no further problems. It would be understood that their athletes were unpaid and largely unskilled—people playing for fun. The commercial group would have problems. But it's having problems now, including how to count all the money its members take in at the gate to watch performers working in some instances for peon pay.

It would be so easy to straighten out the whole mess if every board of trustees in every college and university would decide which way they wanted it to be and then made it be that way, instead of pretending it was some other way.

Once Over

Fidel Castro has taken up golf. A charge that sand traps are the vicious work of the United States and that the smallness of the putting-green cup is due to a Yankee conspiracy is expected.

Our expert on bearded golf cables a report of a typical round:

Fidel warmed up for the game by making three-hour speech in locker room and strode to first tee in excellent gesticulating form. As he took his stance, a spectator sneezed loudly and was immediately arrested as an anti-revolutionist.

Castro took a swing at the ball and missed by two feet. "Now for the next hole," he announced. "You haven't played this one yet," remarked a spectator, who was swiftly led away in chains as a fore of Cuba.

He sliced next ball into woods, dropped a new ball in the fairway and took two strokes off his score. "You have to add two strokes, not subtract them," he was told. "That's under the rules of the decadent, capitalist pro-Batista groups," he snapped. Ultimately reaching the green, his putt was thrown off line by a worm crawling across the grass. "A foul trick of the Yankee aggressor," he thundered, ordering worm before a firing squad.

Castro now crossed through the woods to the No. 10 hole and announced he had beaten par for the first nine, accomplishing five birdies through feats of slicing a ball into his beard and making a perfect recovery, using a mashie, two radio stations and Moscow support. For this 450-yard hole, he selected a putter.

"You'll never make it with that," warned

By H. I. Phillips

his caddie. The boy was seized as a counter-revolutionist who had just parachuted into the game from Miami.

Fidel took a cut at the ball with his putter and announced (by proclamation) that he had put his ball on the green. Nobody could find it, however, and four spectators were executed for expressing belief it was in a trap, 350 yards back.

Suddenly he announced, "I have just made an ace on the 18th hole!"

"What became of the other holes?" a man asked.

"Yank, go home," replied Castro. "Golf, yes correct scores, NO!"

THE INTERNATIONAL AUTO SHOW has so many extra small cars that shoplifter tried to take one out under his coat.

Founder of John Birch Society is a former candy maker. He seems to admit that some of his charges were a lot of taffy.

New Jersey has traffic lights which flash, "Good Morning," "Good Afternoon," and "Good Evening." It makes us feel we should equip our flivver with electric sign "And How Are You?" as matter of courtesy. Perini Construction Company, owner of Milwaukee Braves, announces public stock issue. Market players should find this one has attractions. They can get idea of how things are going by following baseball scores. Pitcher knocked out of box can be a factor. SIDE GLANCES "Nonsense, Clifford! Rain isn't wetter than it used to be. You're just more porous!"

The Doctor Says

By DR. H. T. HYMAN

Curious Side Reactions from Drugs

The fastest growing folder in my file is that in which I place references to side reactions that occur when newly introduced drugs are correctly given, in appropriate doses, for the relief of disturbing complaints or conditions such as nervousness, anxieties, depressions, high blood pressure and even the infectious diseases.

A flurry of requests for information about a variety of symptoms that could be due to medication suggested the need for directing to some of the curious responses that may interfere with a well-planned treatment program. Here are a few examples:

Ringing in the ears and head noises may be due to pain killers of the aspirin type that are included in many headache remedies, prescriptions for the relief of the discomforts of a common cold and antituberculosis drugs.

TREMORS, ESPECIALLY of the fingers and hands, to appetite depressants, thyroid extracts and tranquilizers. As a matter of fact, the tremors produced by tranquilizers may be accompanied by other manifestations of shaking palsy (Parkinson's disease).

Black and blue spots (purpuras), not due to injury, to sulfa drugs taken internally or applied externally, to gold injections and to certain pain killers.

Growth of hair on a woman's face (hirsutism), to male sex hormones, perhaps given for relief of menstrual disorders, or to corticosteroids, used in certain types of arthritis.

Sleeplessness (insomnia), to appetite depressants especially if taken in conjunction with thyroid extract or to nasal decongestants, especially if taken by inhalation before retiring.

Sleepiness during waking hours, to tranquilizers, anti-histamines, sedatives and sleeping medicines taken the previous night.

PERHAPS THESE examples are sufficient to make the point that properly selected, useful drugs occasionally scatter their effects beyond the target area.

You can shed light on this possibility for your doctor by discontinuing medication for a few days and noting the effects on these side reactions. Then, it's up to him to decide whether to reduce your dose, substitute another product of similar action, or to continue to bombard the target and ignore the scattering effects.

Burl Gibson, Ohio Central Division manager, states that this is in keeping with the nation-wide number change that will enable the telephone companies to increase the calling code to exchanges by approximately 50 percent.

This all number calling (ANC) will not affect any calls that would normally be placed as the two letter, five digit number. For example, the existing telephone number LU4-2241 would be changed to 584-2241, which is the same dial pull as the original number, noting that the letter L is in the number 5 dial pull and the letter U is in the number 8 dial pull of the finger wheel.

"Our toll centers have informed us that should they receive a call for the old two letter, five digit number, they would accept it in the same manner as an ANC number," Gibson said.

BRIBE TRIAL TO START

NEW PHILADELPHIA, Ohio (AP)—The bribery trial of Mayor Clifford C. Froelich of Dover will begin April 24. Judge J. H. Lamneck of Tuscarawas County Common Pleas Court said Wednesday. A seven-count indictment charges Froelich accepted bribes to protect gambling.

To Wed In July

Miss Arlene Schaal

Mrs. Iva Schaal of Columbiana announces the engagement of her daughter, Arlene, to Richard Blasiman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Blasiman of RD 4, Salem.

Miss Schaal, a graduate of Youngstown University, is a teacher of first grade in Columbiana. Mr. Blasiman is employed by the American Fire and Clay Products Co. in Canfield. He also has served two years in the army. A July wedding is being planned.

Dr. Thayer Elected By Buckeye PTA

Dr. Harley Thayer was elected president of the Buckeye School Parent-Teacher Association at its meeting Monday night.

Other officers named for the ensuing year were: Vice president, Chester Roof; secretary, Mrs. Charles Trotter; and treasurer, Mrs. Clyde McFeely.

The members voted to assist with the purchase of a new piano for the auditorium.

Monies from the recent fair were spent for the purchase of a typewriter with large type, sweat shirts, and allotting funds to each teacher for needs of their respective classrooms.

The students will present an operetta at the final PTA meeting May 23 at 7:30 p.m.

4-H Club News

Winona Jolly Bunch

The third meeting of the Winona Jolly Bunch 4-H Club was held recently at the home of Janie Heinbuch. Twenty-four members answered roll call with a safety hint.

Kathy Cooper was in charge of the devotions, with Bonnie Gray as song leader. Demonstrations were given by Anita Bennett on "basic mixes" and Doris Vincent, "packaging and labeling frozen foods."

Members planned to go to the officers training session Wednesday at the Fairfield-Waterford School.

Lunch was served by the hostess, assisted by her mother, Mrs. Hazel Heinbuch.

"Why is it," asks Star, "that people with the least to say take the most time to say it?"

It takes us no time at all to state why hair styling at the Star is for you. It's smart, comfortable, beautifully in tune with the times and looks to be created solely for you—which it is, of course. How about making that appointment at the STAR?

University Women Told Of Aims of Association

The Salem Branch of American Association of University Women enjoyed a talk on the basic aims of AAUW at its meeting Tuesday evening at the YWCA.

Guest speaker was Miss Elvira Wright of Warren, who is currently serving as first vice president of the Ohio Division of AAUW. She reminded the members that AAUW works for the further education of all women. It believes that education must be a continuous and living process that never ceases.

No adult today lives in the world into which he was born, nor does he live in the world for which he was educated. For the first time, our education has become a horizontal learning process, she said. That is, a man may be teaching his own special knowledge to fellow workers; previously, knowledge had been passed down from generation to generation. Times are changing so rapidly that our education must change to keep pace with it, Miss Wright pointed out.

AAUW sponsors a fellowship

Mary Lou Anderson Is Party Honoree

Miss Mary Lou Anderson, bride-elect of David Mauch, was honored at a bridal shower Sunday given by Miss Kathleen Porter and Miss Sally Fester at the Fester home, 364 E. 5th St.

The gift table was decorated with a blue crepe paper sprinkling can. The blue theme was carried out on the buffet table, featuring blue candles and a centerpiece of blue colored eggs. Miniature bags of colored rice tied with blue ribbons were favors.

Games were enjoyed by the 28 guests, with prizes going to Miss Mickey Cope and Miss Marilyn Fenton.

The bride-elect received many gifts. Miss Anderson is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dale L. Anderson of 1333 N. Ellsworth Ave., and Mr. Mauch is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence W. Mauch of Youngstown.

The couple have selected June 8 as their wedding date.

HAYES AT MEETING

Aubrey Hayes, city utilities superintendent, is attending the eastern Ohio section's Water Pollution Conference today in Zanesville.

Plan

Massachusetts has been highly successful since it was inaugurated in 1957.

More than 7,100 loans have been made in that state and only 20 have defaulted, he added.

Reckman said he personally favors transferring the $300,000 from money appropriated two years ago to the new Ohio scholarship funds, which was set up to make outright grants to students.

The scholarship program has failed to get off the ground so far since it is based on matching state money with private contributions and using the interest from investments for student grants.

Proposed solicitations by the scholarship program met with opposition from the Ohio College Association, which said the state would be competing with it in seeking gifts from private sources.

The scholarship fund trustees recently proposed that the state virtually abandon the matching idea and take over the financing itself.

Reckman said the loan-guarantee bill would help many more students sooner than the scholarship plan would. He said the latter program would still be authorized by law and could be used later if desired.

The bill now under consideration would dovetail the two programs by having the same trustees control both.

Westville

Mrs. Merlin Stanley of Damascus, Mr. Sumner Oesch of Sebring, Mrs. Jerd Oesch, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Oesch of Berlin Center, and Rachel and Gladys Oesch attended the wedding of their niece and cousin, Marian Meacham, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Meacham of Randolph, to Roald Shern of Michigan, Monday in the Randolph Methodist church.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Pow of Alliance and Mrs. Zelma Knight were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Knight.

Mr. and Mrs. George Heston visited Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Heston of Salem Sunday.

Police Car Towed In After Breakdown

The city is minus one of its two police cruisers today as a result of damage sustained by one car at 1:56 a.m. on Lundy Ave., between E. State St. and South Alley.

Police reported the front right ball-suspension of the car broke loose and caused the front end of the cruiser to drop down while being driven by Patrolman Richard Whinnery. It was towed back to the police station.

The 1958 model car, which has logged some 130,000 miles, was repaired a year ago, with repairmen warning police that the auto was unsafe to drive over 25 m.p.h.

NO APRIL DRAFT CALL

LISBON — Columbiana County Draft Board No. 16 has received no call for draftees or men to report for pre-induction physicals for April, according to Mrs. Elaine Griffith, clerk. She said this is the first time in over five years that the board has sent no one during the month for inductions or physicals.

Her dying words—according to Finch: "I'm sorry, darling, please take care of the kids."

The death weapon has never been found.

Their attorneys automatically made a motion for a new trial, but attorney Keith admitted he has little hope the motion will be granted.

Judge David Coleman set April 17 for a hearing on the motion. Finch and Carole may be sentenced at the date, too.

County Realtors to Hear Soils Expert

The Columbiana County Board of Realtors will meet Tuesday at Timberlanes.

Guest speaker will be Heber Lessig, an employee of the Soil Conservation Service, having served as a soil scientist for the past 23 years. His topic will be "Know Your Soil and Sell More Land." Mr. Lessig has just completed a basic soil survey of Columbiana County and is engaged in writing a complete report.

GETTING MARRIED?

From Bobby Lamie, Kankakee, Ill.: "Dear Sergeant York—I am 9 years old and I help my brother with his paper route. My big sister said that you need help. I hope this 25 cents will help you."

Unsigned letter from Washington, D.C., addressed in childish scrawl to "Sargent York" (sic): "Here is 1/2 my allowance for a brave man." (Enclosed was 25 cents.)

Michael G. Parker, 11, Bronx, N.Y., sent a dime, two nickels and two pennies taped to a sheet of paper and a note saying "Something for Sgt. York."

In addition to Rayburn, others who contributed $1,000 were Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon, publisher William Randolph Hearst, former Undersecretary of State Will Clayton; Philip L. Graham, president of the Washington Post; and Abe Plough, Memphis, Tenn., drug executive.

There were numerous donations from men who served in the 82nd Division with York when he was credited officially with putting a German machine gun battalion out of action practically unassisted.

It was in the Argonne in 1918 that the Tennessee backwoodsman, then 31, performed his amazing feat of killing 25 Germans and taking 132 prisoners.

The commander of the American Expeditionary Force, Gen. John J. Pershing, described York as "the greatest civilian soldier of the war," and made the recommendation that brought York the nation's highest military decoration—the Medal of Honor.

York, now 73, fell into income tax difficulties with the government several years ago because of income he received from a book and a movie based on his life and war exploits. The money melted away, York became ill and when the government presented its claim he was unable to pay.

Pianist's Concert Is Enjoyed Here

Community Concerts Association members were thrilled by the performance of Ivan Davis, pianist, Wednesday night in the Junior High School auditorium. This was the final concert in the 1960-61 series.

The 28-year-old artist, who has the appearance and repertoire of a veteran concert artist, demonstrated genius at the keyboard. The program, showing his great sensitivity for the nuances of mood and tempo, included: Three Sonatas by Scarlatti; Sonata in F major, Mozart; Variations on the name, "Abeeg... Op. 1, Schumann; Andante Spianato et Grande Polonaise brillante, Op. 22, Chopin; Nocture, "Homage to John Field," Samuel Barber; Funerailles, Liebestraum, No. 3, and Hungarian Rhapsody, No. 6, Liszt.

The entertainer generously responded when he was called back repeatedly for encores.

Tax Collector Has Romantic Streak

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — The federal tax collector here has a romantic streak in his make-up. C. W. Glotzbach, Internal Revenue Service director, said he plans to expedite a request from a female taxpayer who attached the following note to an income tax refund claim for $33: "Rush! Rush! Rush! This is honeymoon money."

U.S. Budget May Hit $87 Billion In '63

WASHINGTON (AP)—The budget President Kennedy will send Congress next January may be in the neighborhood of a record $87 billion.

This early-bird view of Kennedy's first, on-his-own budget, stems from estimates prepared by Budget Bureau experts.

Revenues would have to climb considerably to put such a budget in balance.

An $87 billion budget would be about $6 billion above current levels. It should be balanced, informed sources said Wednesday, if the economy makes a satisfactory recovery from the current recession.

Hearing Held On County Job Mixup

The 7th Court of Appeals in Youngstown, Wednesday gave Columbiana County Prosecutor G. William Brokaw until April 15 to file briefs in the petition of four Democratic Courthouse employees to receive their wages.

Replaced by four Republican appointees by the Board of Commissioners, the Democrats have been reporting for work daily since Feb. 1.

The relators, Mrs. Camille Smith of Wellsville, Miss Patricia Barborak of West Point, Mrs. Jane Case and Mrs. Ruth Winning of Columbiana, then will have until April 16 to file an answer.

Testifying at the hearing Wednesday were James T. Welch, director of the Department of State Personnel, and his assistant J. P. Maddin, Commissioner Frank Wilson of Wellsville, R. Max Gard of Lisbon, a former commissioner, and the four replaced employees.

Commissioners Walter Hunston of East Palestine and Galen Greenisen of Salem were present at the hearing but didn't testify.

Atty. Guy Mauro of Salem represented the Democrats at the hearing.

The court stipulated it would attempt to rule in the case before the April 20 pay period.

A mandamus action also is pending in the Ohio Supreme Court in an attempt to force Welch to certify the Republican appointees for payment of wages.

Home Show Opens Today, Runs 4 Days

"Better Living" is the theme for Salem's annual Home Show, which will open at 6 tonight at the Althouse Building, E. Pershing St. and S. Lundy Ave.

It will continue through Sunday. Hours Friday are from 6 to 9; Saturday from noon until 9 and Sunday from 2 to 9 p.m.

All exhibits are on the second floor of the building which has a ramp entrance off Pershing St. and another entrance on Lundy Ave.

Visitors will see a variety of displays erected by 47 local and district companies. Special non-commercial attractions also will be seen, according to Wade A. Loop, general chairman.

The Home Show is sponsored by the American Legion Post. Assisting Loop on the committee are Walter Krauss, H. E. Zepernick, Frank Hoopes, Leslie Brantingham and John Herman.

arrest was made by an officer posing as a potential investor.

Hutchison said Crist allegedly showed a contract signed by two Miami lawyers that indicated he was operating a car rental business.

Hutchison said he asked the Federal Bureau of Investigation to check out the contract and the bureau reportedly indicated the rental company was fictitious.

As result of this disclosure, Hutchison said he went to police here and filed the charge against Crist.

"We have names of 78 people in Florida and Puerto Rico alone where he allegedly obtained a cash total of $1,300,000 in the last three or four years," Stone said. "The final total may reach $3 million."

Stone said Crist, when arrested, had a passport for South America that would permit him to leave the country.

SENTENCE SUSPENDED

LISBON — A Salineville man Gary Earich, 25, was found guilty of failing to work out his relief order for his family and was picked up for non-support of his wife and children Wednesday.

Sentence was suspended upon the defendant's making himself available to the welfare department to work out the March slip amounting to $80, according to Juvenile Judge Louis Tobin.

Inside Labor By Victor Riesel

On this front you have to run hard just to stand still. And Walter Reuther is running hard—right smack in the direction of some three million white-collar employees and space age technicians who have never had a dues tap pasted on them though they work in the office and research shops of "the big plants" across the land.

With the membership in "overalls" having fallen off some 900,000 inside the mass production plants, Reuther and some of his colleagues see the next big organizing goal in the offices which provide the managerial direction and science for these mile-long factories.

As a sort of launching pad for this offensive, Mr. R. has set a two-day "workshop" in Washington to discuss "organizing industrial white-collar workers."

It isn't a smooth sprint for Reuther. He has just been charged with moving in on other unions' jurisdiction—and has been told in effect to move right out.

THIS CHALLENGE—by two white-collar union presidents who have come of age along with the electronic brain and space ships—adds another to the number of feuds between Reuther and the specialists' unions. Another such feud or two and the AFL-CIO will split wide open.

Evidence of this newest conflict is in a joint letter dated March 17 dispatched to Reuther by Howard Coughlin, president of the Office Employees International Union, and Russell M. Stephens, president of the American Federation of Technical Engineers.

Both are AFL-CIO unions. Both believe it is the jurisdiction of their white collar unions—and not the auto workers or steel union—to sign up desk people and researchers.

They not only told this to Reuther but sent copies of their angry missive to all other national union presidents. And they put their case before Mr. Labor himself, George Meany.

Mr. Coughlin and Mr. Stephens addressed the letter to Reuther in his capacity as president of the Industrial Union Dept.

THIS DIVISION of the AFL-CIO is patterned after Reuther's old CIO. Only it's solvent—with most of its $3 million tied up in cash. Jim Carey is its secretary-treasurer.

"The . . . Federation of Technical Engineers and the Office Employees . . . are deeply concerned," said the joint communication, "over recent actions of the Industrial Union Dept. (I.U.D.)."

"Several months ago, our unions were completely disregarded in the planning of a white-collar work shop in New York. After the panels were set up and dates announced, we were, in effect, told that we could participate as spectators. . . . It was noteworthy, however, that the panelists for the most part represented industrial unions of the former CIO."

The letter then says that though the jilted white-collar union sent a protest to Reuther, "we did not receive a reply from you." A second communication was also unanswered.

Coughlin and Stephens said little, however, until they learned that Reuther had set a second white-collar parley for April 17.

THE AUTO UNION chief sent invitations this time to The International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, the Steelworkers, the International Union of Electrical Workers, the International Association of Machinists and, of course, the Auto Workers.

It was then that Coughlin and Stephens cut loose with the letter I have been quoting. The rest of the communique gets sharper as it comes to the point where it tells Reuther to leave the field alone:

"We are, therefore, shocked and surprised that our organizations, both affiliated with the IUD, were not invited to this white-collar work shop. Our organizations are far in the lead in this field."

"We cannot help but arrive at the conclusion that those in charge of the activities of the IUD are using divisive tactics which accrue to the disadvantage of those craft-like organizations, such as the . . . Engineers . . . and the Office Employees."

That's what they put on paper. In personal conversations Coughlin has been pointing out that there are still nine million non-unionized factory workers and he has been asking why Reuther is going after the three million in the white-collar fields.

MORE PEOPLE ARE BUYING CHEVROLETS THAN ANY OTHER MAKE!

"When one car outsells all the rest the way this new Chevrolet is doing"—there's got to be a reason. And we can think of some pretty good ones. The clean-etched looks of the new Body by Fisher, for example. The eager brand of "git" that's under the hood. The easy way it handles. Plus the added advantage of extra-cost options like triple-turbine Turboglide.

But to sample all these reasons together, you have to get a Chevrolet out on the road. And there's where that Jet-smooth ride takes over with its own gentle kind of

New Chemical Cleared

A chemical called Lindane has been cleared by the federal government for use in control of spittlebugs in meadows, according to Foyd Lower, county extension agent in agriculture.

Lindane is being recommended, along with Methoxychlor for control of the insects.

Lower said Lindane must be applied before the grass is six inches tall and may be applied when it is only two inches tall. The forage must not be cut or grazed within 30 days after the treatment.

Lindane is related chemically to B.H.C., the chemical formerly used but which is no longer permitted under the Miller Act, Lower said.

Cub Pack 62

The March meeting of Pack 62 of Hanoverton was held recently at United School.

The following awards were presented: Bobcat badge, Tom Cozza, Richard Graber; wolf badge, Ronnie Sidwell; silver arrow, Karl Hardgrove, Ronnie Sidwell, Ronny Rudebeck; gold arrow, Ronnie Sidwell, James Hendershott, Karl Hardgrove; one year pin, Dana Boyce; adult one-year pin, Mrs. Gladys Boyce.

Tentative plans for summer activities were announced, and registration cards for 1961 were distributed.

Prizes for the recent railroad contest went to Ricky Mercer, train kit, and James Julian, most original. Raymond Moser and Karl Hardgrove tied for the second most original.

Den 1 and Den 3 opened and closed the meeting respectively. The attendance flag was won by Den 4.

Inspection of uniforms will be held at the April Pack meeting at the home of Mrs. Homer Temple of Hanoverton.

Comedian Joe E. Brown was born in Holgate, Ohio.

FAT OVERWEIGHT

Available to you without a doctor's prescription, our drug called ODRINEX. You must lose ugly fat in 7 days or your money back. No strenuous exercise, laxatives, massage or taking of so-called reducing candies, crackers or cookies, or chewing gum. ODRINEX is a tiny tablet and easily swallowed. When you take ODRINEX, you still enjoy your meals, still eat the foods you like, but you simply don't have the urge for extra portions because ODRINEX depresses your appetite and decreases your desire for food. Your weight must come down, because as your own doctor will tell you, when you eat less, you weigh less. Get rid of excess fat and live longer. ODRINEX costs $3.00 and is sold on this GUARANTEE: If not satisfied for any reason just return the package to your druggist and get your full money back. No questions asked. Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: I am one of the millions of victims of that racket called "alimony." Is there a way out?

I divorced my husband because he was no good. I didn't take a dime from the rat when I left — and he had plenty. I believe it is immoral for a woman to collect money just because she used to be married to a man.

Then I met Frankie. I knew I wanted him more than anything in the world. He was married to a social-climbing snob. If it weren't for their child he's have left her long ago. He had moved into the guest room a year before we met so I was not the cause of their rift.

Frankie and I slid around back stairs and out-of-the-way places for 15 months before he asked for a divorce. His wife said, "All right but it'll cost you plenty."

I must keep working because almost half of what Frankie makes goes to his wife and son. They live just as they always have — lovely home, maid, trips, new car — the works. We're cramped in a small apartment.

Something is wrong with the laws when a grasping, greedy female who was a lousy wife can get away with this. An able-bodied woman should have to go to work if she fails as a wife. America is the only country in the world where the alimony racket flourishes. Why? — FIGHTER AGAINST INJUSTICE.

Dear Fighter: Alimony is the high cost of leaving. When a woman marries a divorced man with a family she married his headaches and his responsibilities.

You said you wanted him more than anything in the world. Well now you've got him — total — so don't complain. If the sanctity of marriage is to be upheld the law must be on the side of the legally wed—not the illicit lovers. This is only one reason I urge those who are considering marriage to make certain their selection is a durable one.

Compounded Fib

Dear Ann: I had a little girl out of wedlock six years ago. I was no youngster (33) and decided to keep her and do my best against terrific odds.

I've been masquerading as a divorced woman and no one knows the truth except my mother. My problem is I've told Louise her father is dead. She keeps wanting to see his picture.

Would it be all right if I showed her a picture of a cousin who was killed during the war? It would satisfy her and solve my problem.

William E. Simkins

Charles B. Wilkinson

NEW MEN IN GOVERNMENT — Mediation of labor disputes will be the job of William E. Simkins, who heads up the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service. A new appointment is that of Charles B. (Bud) Wilkinson, Oklahoma's football coach, as a special consultant to President Kennedy on national youth fitness.

— SORRY MESS.

Dear Mess: Don't add a third lie to the two now afloat. Tell

Louise you have no picture.

Unexpected Guests

Dear Ann: I could kiss you for that letter knocking "dropping in unexpectedly." With summer nearly here I hope some of our so-called friends will see it and take the hint.

We bought a summer home because we wanted to rest and be alone — away from the tensions of the city. Every weekend we are plagued by friends and relatives who just assume we are thrilled to see them. They bring nothing but big appetites and tired bones.

I have a housekeeper in the city but I do my own work at the cottage and believe me, most weekends it's easier to stay home. I've had to cook for as many as 11 unexpected guests on a Sunday.

Is there a solution for us? — TRAPPED.

Dear Trapped: Yes. Tell all unexpected visitors you have plans for the day. Fix them a cup of coffee, visit for half an hour, walk them to their car, then get in yours and take a little ride.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Salem News, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Columbiana Juniors To Give Play Friday

COLUMBIANA — A three-act comedy about life during the Roaring '20s, "Our Hearts Were Young and Gay," will be presented by the Junior Class of Columbiana High School Friday at 7:30 p.m. in the high school auditorium.

Mrs. Allap T. White is director of the production, which has the following cast members: Charles Hickman, Betsy Detwiler, Paula Roth, Arthur Schmidt, Sylvia Curl, Gail Miller, Gayle Geiger, John Lindsay, Jim Ellis, Vaughn King, Mary Lou Longworth, Deane Hettrich, Geraldine Shell, Lynn Paulson, Judy Churchfield, Dave Garrod, and Fred Zellars. Becky Way is the student director and Sherry Ward, student manager.

MEMBERS OF THE Columbiana Reader's Guild will meet on Friday at 7:30 p.m. in Room 16 of the high school building to attend the play. Mrs. Lee Bookwalter has charge of arrangements.

Columbiana Democratic Women's Club members and their husbands have been invited to a covered dinner of the Leetonia Democratic Women's Club, scheduled for Wednesday at 6:30 p.m. in the Leetonia OSI hall. Local members planning to attend the event are asked to call Mrs. Pauline Pine by Monday.

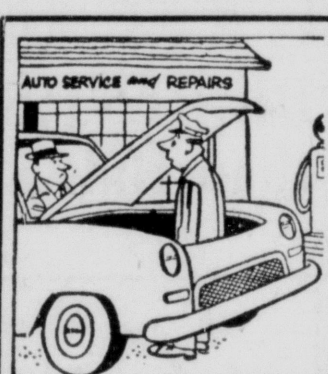

Several local Rotary Club members and their wives will attend a district conference Sunday and Monday in New Philadelphia. John Elder is club chairman for promoting attendance at the meeting.

FIRE CHIEF MARCUS HUM, Assistant Chief Don Hisey, Charles Flohr and Robert Ford are scheduled to represent the Columbiana Fire Department at an arson school to be conducted April 16 at Poland High School by the Mahoning Valley Firemen's Association in cooperation with the arson bureau of the state fire marshal's office.

The Past Noble Grand Club has set a meeting for Monday at 8 p.m. in the lodge hall. Hostesses will be Mrs. Ruth Ferrall, Mrs. Ada Wagner and Mrs. Janet Reinher.

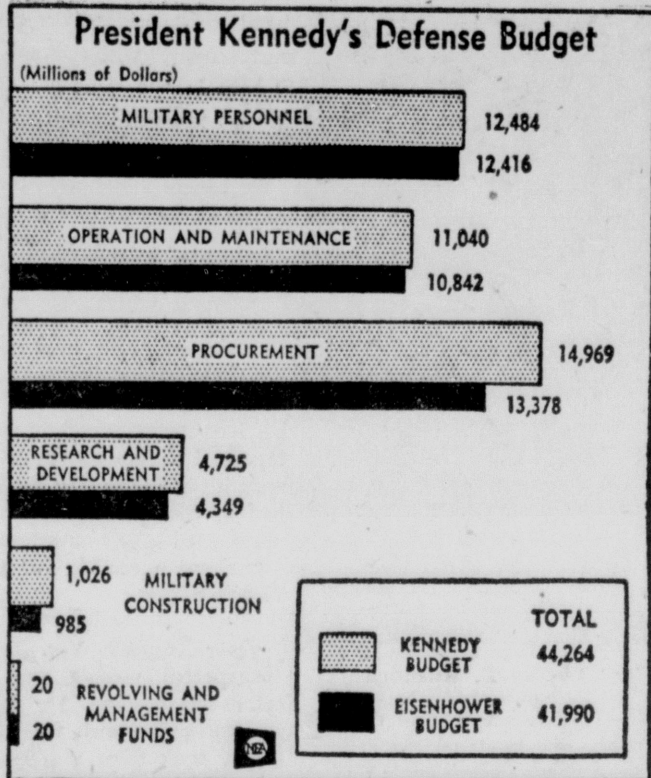

Columbiana Public Library was scheduled to open today after a week's shutdown during excavation for the addition to the south side of the building.

BILLIONS FOR DEFENSE—Chart above shows the main items in President Kennedy's defense budget for Fiscal 1962 (July, '61 to June '62). It is compared with the Eisenhower administration's proposed budget for the same period. New procurement authority for planes, missiles, ships, etc., is the largest item. Biggest single chunk of spending in this category would go to build Polaris missiles and subs. Manpower would increase by only 13,000, to 2,560,000 total.

Office Seeker

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — No one's education in life is quite complete until he seeks to be elected something or other.

It isn't necessary to seek high public office—to aspire to be a senator or a governor or a tenant of the White House.

Running for the presidency of a private club or organization of any kind can be equally enlightening as to the vital dynamics of democracy.

A man learns the same basic facts of politics whether he runs for the presidency of the United States, or for the chairmanship of the local branch of the International Society for the Betterment of the Petunia.

As a matter of pure truth, the infighting in amateur politics is probably more intense than it is in the field of professional politics which is, to some extent, affected by traditional rules.

You are an ordinary man reasonably content with an ordinary job, a wife and two ordinary children. You rather unwillingly join P-TA because—well, you feel you ought to.

You sit silent through the first few meetings. Then, one night, when the audience is asked for suggestions as to how to improve the school, you get up.

"Why don't we get the gym mats cleaned? They look pretty dirty," you say.

Later Joe Doakes, one of the king makers of the organization, approaches you.

"That was a mighty constructive proposal you made. This outfit needs fresh minds and new blood. How about you running for president?" he says.

So you launch your campaign for the presidency on a liberal platform: "Let's get the gym mats cleaned—and hang the expense."

A week later a second faction appears with a candidate whose slogan is, "Why imperil our children's safety with used gum mats? Let's buy new gym mats!"

A third candidate then arises with the cry, "Let's build a new gym." Then a fourth candidate emerges with an even hotter issue: "What our community deserves is a brand new school."

The whole situation has changed. Instead of being a forward-looking liberal, you are now tagged as a foot-dragging old fossil with his mind in the past, a real drag on the community.

Rumors spread that you are a wife beater, a tax dodger and a man who starves his kids on stale bread and water in order to keep up sumptuous love nests in two neighboring suburbs.

Well, on the advice of Joe Doakes, you rent a mimeograph and start grinding out campaign literature. You and your supporters hold endless caucuses far into the morning, and soon you are spending more time and effort trying to be president of the P-TA than you are in earning a living. Old enemies suddenly become warm friends, and old friends unexpectedly become new enemies. You have a strange sense of unreality. You don't feel you have changed, but the world around you has.

Comes election night and you are badly swamped. The P-TA overwhelmingly votes in as president the guy who plumped for a $3-million bond issue to build a new school.

You are a defeated man. But you have learned things about yourself and your community you never could have discovered unless you had run for an elective office, and submitted yourself to the voting discipline of your fellow man.

TO OPERATE HOSPITAL

CINCINNATI (AP)—The University of Cincinnati is to take over operation of General Hospital starting Jan. 1 under City Council action completed Wednesday. Council followed the decision by voters at a referendum last November. The voters also approved a $17 million improvement program at the hospital.

AWARDED GRANTS

CLEVELAND (AP)—The federal government has awarded grants totaling $246,000 to Case Institute of Technology and Highland View Hospital for research to help disabled persons use their limbs and provide handicapped persons help with their emotional problems. Case will receive $124,185 over a three-year period and the hospital $122,214.

Greenford

Mr. and Mrs. Lemuel Anderson of Salem, Mr. and Mrs. David Fenstermaker of Warren and Mr. and Mrs. Dayne Brown of Canfield were Easter dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Brown.

Mr. and Mrs. C. J. McGirr and three children of Oak Creek, Wis., accompanied Fred Puttkamer of Milwaukee to his home here. The McGirr's are visiting at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Moyer on Shields Road near Canfield. Mr. McGirr and Mr. Puttkamer have returned to Wisconsin.

The Fireman's Auxiliary met at the home of Mrs. Ray Hendricks when plans were made to hold their bake sale at the Ralph Schurenberger sale Saturday. Plans were made to have a bake sale and bazaar in the fall. The park committee gave a report on the equipment being bought for the Greenford Park. Donations for the bake sale would be appreciated. Mrs. Chester Pettit was hostess to the Needlers Club Wednesday evening.

FICTION

MEN AND ANGELS by Robin White. The son of an American missionary to India hears that his father has disappeared in India. He goes there in search of him and finds out a great deal more than he had ever before known about the Indians, his father, and even a great deal about himself.

SECRET OF THE KINGDOM by Mika Waltari. The beginnings of Christianity as seen by a young Roman. He talks with the disciples, with many other people who had known Jesus, even with Pontius Pilate. He becomes obsessed with a desire to discover what the secret of the Kingdom of Jesus is, and so becomes acquainted with all of his teachings.

PRIME MINISTER'S WIFE by Doris Leslie. Mary Ann Evans began life as the daughter of a poor family, kept a milliner shop when she became a young woman, and eventually was married to Disraeli. Her story is almost as unusual and colorful as that of her famous husband, and Miss Leslie tells it well.

THE WEDDING BAND by Samuel Yellen. A marriage between a Gentile and a Jew and the many problems which ensue. The story is told by one of their daughters who is a spinster professor of English. The locale is Cleveland, Ohio.

THE GRAVE OF THE TWIN HILLS by Bowen Hosford. Alton Burrage had fought against the Japanese in World War II. They had killed his twin brother and wounded him, so it was without any pleasure that, when he became a foreign correspondent after the war, he finds himself in Japan. The novel concerns the many things which happen to change his views.

MOUNTAINS AHEAD by Martha Ferguson McKeown. A wagon train on the Oregon Trail in 1847 provides the full cast of characters, the background and the excitement for this well-written novel.

NON-FICTION
SUCCESSFUL SALESMANSHIP by Paul W. Ivey and Walter Horvath. Fourth edition of an old favorite, this has been greatly expanded and brought up to date by Wayland A. Tanning, who is a Professor of Marketing.

EARTH'S REMOTEST END by J. C. Pollock. A first-hand report on Christian missionary work in Asia and the Near East as seen by the author and his wife on their recent 33,000-mile journey through fifteen countries.

THE NECESSITY FOR CHOICE by Henry A. Kissinger. The author believes that we, as a nation, must overcome our obsession with safety and predictability and begin to do more creative thinking and adjust to changes as they come. He wants us to realize that no solution is apt to be permanent and that, no matter how unwilling we are to admit it, all of the people now living are likely to never see times which are any more settled.

NEW AGE IN PHYSICS by Professor Sir Harrie Massey. A University of London professor covers the developments in physics since Einstein's Theory of Relativity and the Quantum Theory. Dating by radio-carbon, cosmic rays, are included.

PROGRAMS FOR THE GIFTED: A Case Book in Secondary Education, edited by Samuel Everett. A compilation of much material on this subject. Of interest to all who wish to improve education in this country. Programs in effect in several European countries are described, as are programs being carried out in various types and sizes of communities in this country.

YOUR CAREER IN THE THEATRE by Bruce Savan. As the title indicates, this book attempts to describe the various types of

NEW HONORS — FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover has been given an award for "distinguished service to the Welfare of the nation." The United Service Organizations Inc., which made the award, cited Hoover's "unselfish contributions to the American heritage and to the youth who shoulder its growth."

OUTDOOR - INDOOR FUN BOOK by June Johnson. Written for use with children from the ages of six to twelve, this will be a boon to group workers of many types. The index is complete, and the material well organized. Diagrams are included where helpful.

THE QUEEN'S NECKLACE by Frances Mossiker. The most complete treatment to date of the famous affair of the disappearing diamond necklace. Most of the account consists of quotations from diaries and letters of many of the people involved in the affair, or accused of being involved. Of course we learn a great deal about Queen Marie Antoinette and court life in general.

THE HOUSE OF HANOVER

by Alvin Redman. The monarchs of the British Empire from George I to Victoria. Although the history is there, much that is enlivening and amusing is there also.

THE SONG OF ROLAND, translated by Laura Moore Wright. A new translation into English masterpieces of Western literature.

THE CATHOLICS IN AMERICA by Anthony I. Marino. An account of many of the contributions which Catholics have made to the development of the United States. Mr. Marino is a native of Youngstown.

THE OLD LADY SAYS NO! and other plays, by Denis Johnston. A collection of six plays by a leading Irish dramatist.

A COUNTRY SCANDAL, by Anton Chekhov. A first English publication of an early play by the famous Russian dramatist.

This one is very different from most other plays by Chekhov - it is light and amusing and very funny, quite a bit like the French comedies of Moliere.

SPORTS ILLUSTRATED BOOK OF DOG TRAINING, by the editors of Sports Illustrated Magazine. The first twenty five pages are devoted to training of the new household pet. The rest of the book is concerned with training for field work - hunting and retrieving.

TRAINING THE DOG by Will Judy. A new and much-enlarged edition of a standard guide to training the dog, this is much more complete than the title listed above.

Warren Quintet Upsets Akron Joe's at United

Two Strong Cleveland Teams Also Advance In Tournament 8 Teams Fight for 4 Remaining Quarterfinals Berths Tonight

Hall Avenue Inn of Warren pulled the first major upset in the United Invitational Basketball Tournament when it eliminated Akron Joe's All-Stars, 64-59 last night at the United High gym.

In addition to Akron Joe's, three other squads fell from the tourney last night, cutting the original 24-team field in half.

Powerful Carney Auditors of Cleveland knocked off Denny Farm Equipment of Beloit, 81-57; the New Brighton Bears nipped Harsh Billiards of Minerva, 64-63; and Cleveland Bleep-Coombs downed Magnolia Whitacre-Greer, 79-53.

The four winners last night advance to quarterfinals play on Friday. Their opponents will be determined after tonight's four-game card is completed.

AKRON JOE'S didn't have Jimm Darrow or Johnny Cox with them last night, but they did have Adrian Smith, the former Kentucky cage star, and George Swyers of the Akron Goodyears. These two cagers accounted for 42 points but they didn't get much help as Hall Avenue Inn set them down 64-59.

The Warren team is composed of former high school players from Vienna and Champion. What's amazing about their victory over Akron Joe's is the fact that the Hall Avenue Inn quintet doesn't have a starter over six feet.

The speedy and well-balanced Warren team got 18 points from Bruce Armstrong, 17 from Frank Catchpole and 13 from Tom Cykon. Smith's 22 markers were high for Joe's.

Carney Auditor's looked like a team that could go all the way after its smashing 81-57 win over Denny Farm Equipment. Jerry Gallici notched 20 points; Farrell's Jim McCoy collected 14; and Big Gus Johnson hooped 11 for Carney's.

DOUG DUNCAN, ace of the Alliance High team this year, hit 21 markers for Denny's and Lynn Barnett, former Goshen Union star, added 14 in the losing effort.

All-Inter-County Loop Selections Announced

Greenford and Lowellville each placed three men on the 1960-61 All-Inter-County League basketball squad selected last night by the head coaches of the six teams in the loop.

Also named to the 12-man squad were two stars from Fairfield-Waterford and McDonald, and one each from North Lima and Western Reserve.

Greenford placed Gary Wilt, Bob Cook and Clyde Shoff on the dream team. Lowellville's three representatives are John Hvisdak, Jim Dovich and Chuck Schiavello.

Selected from Fairfield-Waterford were Calence Kannal and Tom Messenger.

Representing conference champion McDonald are Pat Patterson and Jim Betts. Patterson was the leading scorer in the conference this season.

Ward Manchester, ace of the North Lima club, made the all-league team. Western Reserve's lone representative on the 12-man team is Dick Scriver.

Boston Rolls 116-108

Cousy Paces Celtics To Win Over Hawks

By BOB HOOBING

Associated Press Sports Writer

BOSTON (AP)—Bob Cousy, the old master of pressure play, says no collection of all stars could beat the Boston Celtics when they play their top game.

"We played as a team in the second half," the weary Cousy said Wednesday night after his 26 points and 14 assists keyed a 116-108 victory over St. Louis.

Though Boston leads the best-of-seven National Basketball Association championship playoff series 2-0, the players are unanimous in the feeling they will not be able to win in four straight. The next two games are in St. Louis Saturday and Sunday afternoons and will be televised nationally.

"We were hurting without the big guy," was the opening utterance of Hawks' Coach Paul Seymour referring to center Clyde Lovellette who is sidelined by a back injury. Though there is a chance Lovellette can play this weekend "I won't dress him unless he's 100 per cent okay," Seymour said.

Known for peak performances in the "big ones" throughout his 11 year NBA career, Cousy had never been a more spectacular playmaker.

"It's pride," Cousy explained.

"The playoffs are like a command performance before royalty. Not many get the chance and here it is facing you. So you stuff up with pride and get yourself fired up to a pitch. Yeah, it's still a great challenge."

Cousy was taken out of the game with 2½ minutes to play and slumped over on the bench while the 13,909 Boston Garden spectators roared a tribute to his performance.

"I was choked up with a chest congestion and couldn't breathe," Cousy said. "I was making frantic signals to the bench to get me out. The crowd? It was more of a eulogy than an ovation—they probably thought I was going to die," he added with a laugh.

Indians Pack Bags After 5-3 Trouncing by Los Angeles

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—The Cleveland Indians, after six weeks at spring training camp, pack up tonight and say goodbye to Tucson for another year.

After visiting Las Vegas and Salt Lake City this weekend, the Indians head for Detroit for Tuesday's season opener.

Manager Jimmie Dykes' emphasis on conditioning has shown results, and the team seems in excellent shape physically.

However, there are some big unresolved problems.

The biggest problem that has appeared in the exhibition games has concerned relief pitching.

The first-line pitching has been excellent. With Jim Perry, Gary Bell, Jim Grant and Johnny Antonelli for starters, the Indians stack up with any team in the league. Rookie Bob Allen also has been surprisingly good.

But the relievers have been a big disappointment. Frank Funk, who performed brilliantly in nine appearances with the Indians last September, has been ineffective. He has a startling 33.00 earned run average.

Dykes and pitching coach Mel Harder appear unconcerned. They say they are sure Funk will return to his previous good form.

They are counting, too, on Bob Locke, Barry Latman and Russ Heman.

Heman is relatively untested. Latman and Locke have ranged from poor to very bad. Wynn Hawkins has been wild and ineffective and Dick Stigman probably will be put on the disabled list for 30 days with a torn muscle.

The bright spot has been Steve Hamilton, a rookie southpaw who was with Mobile last year. He has been the best of the lot.

Allen was charged with the loss in the Tribe's 5-3 defeat by the Los Angeles Angels Wednesday. He pitched six good innings but was tagged for three runs in the sixth inning.

Funk took over in the eighth and allowed a run on three singles and a stolen base.

Cleveland got only six hits off Jerry Casale and rookie Ron Moeller.

Perry was to pitch today against the Angels here.

Lane Sings Blues Over Unsuccessful Bids for Pitchers

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Frank Lane, general manager of the Kansas City Athletics, says "I've never been so frustrated in my life."

Lane, baseball's busiest trader in past seasons, said Wednesday repeated attempts to get additional pitchers have failed. He said there's no chance of a trade before opening day.

"I thought we were close a couple of times," he said, "but nothing worked out. There's no point in kidding ourselves. We need pitching help and we're willing to give up front line ball players to get it."

County Archers Elect Lou Emelo

Louis Emelo of Salem was elected president of the Columbiana County Archers at that organization's monthly meeting held Wednesday in Columbiana.

Other officers elected were Herman Brinker of Leontonia, vice-president; Paul Brownlee of Lisbon, secretary; and Valeria Emelo of Salem, treasurer.

Another highlight of the evening was the awarding of deer trophies to Paul Brownlee and Lou Emelo for deer they bagged last season. This was the second year in a row that Brownlee had bagged a deer and the third in a row for Emelo.

The Archers have planned a Work Day for April 22. The new field course will be approved April 23.

BOWLING

Jerry Colaizzi, whose name is popping up more and more frequently at the top of the bowling scores in the city, last night turned in another fine performance in the Classic League at Saxon Lanes.

Jerry compiled a fine 639 series which included single games of 225 and 223. Orrie Snyder rolled a 602-221-223. Paul Wukotich also hit the 600 mark with a 600-214.

Other scores included Dick Hahn, 598; George Mitchell, 595-216-212; Ron Saffner, 594-219; John Hendron, 590-210; John Priddy, 582-223; Ray Thompson, 581-233; Bill Pauline, 579-228; and H. Wuchter, 578-213.

Shorty's Cab turned in a 2842-966 for high team series honors, and Herron Food posted a 991 team high single.

Fred Reese blasted the pins for a 637-205-235 in the E. W. Bliss Co. League yesterday. He was trailed by Pim, 587-215; R. Kekel, 570-222; F. Dowd, 564; and B. Rockwell, 551-204.

Engineer's No. 3 swept team honors with a 2797-982.

Purity Dairy was on top of the team scoring list once again in the Ladies Commercial League at Timberlans. Its team score was 2576-865.

Leading the individual scoring was Olive Ramsey who notched was runner-up with a 548-193-191.

Other high scores were posted by Lois Longanecker, 543-198-177; Dorothy Vogelhuber, 508-187; Jo Crawford, 506-190; Min Spear, 503-184; Mildred Kline, 496-176; Wanda Wilson, 494-200; June Kennedy, 492-177; Mary Rutkay, 479-193; and Ann DeJana, 471-184.

In single games, Brenda Hawkins posted a 212 and Julia notched a 193.

Yogi Berra and Elston Howard have followed similar trails with the New York Yankees. Both were born in St. Louis and both now live in New Jersey. In addition, they're both catcher-outfielders.

Franko Makes Second Team

Harrold, Hartshorn Named All-Tri-County

Jim Hartshorn, the 1960-61 loop scoring champion from East Palestine, heads up the Tri-County League All-Star basketball team selected last night by the eight coaches in the loop.

Other first team choices are Rich Harrold of Columbiana, Gary Allen of Louisville, Don Miller of Minerva and Bill Zimmer of Poland.

Hartshorn and Zimmer were both second team selections last year. Zimmer, a junior, is the only non-senior on this year's first team.

Leontonia's Jim Franko and Columbiana's Gary Perkins were given second team berths along with Jim McCloskey of East Palestine, Tim Walter of Poland and Ray Dorr of Sebring. Walter is a junior. The other four on the second team are seniors.

Included on the honorable mention list were Bob Gullet and Jim Stelts of Leontonia.

SPORT FACTS

The oldest active player in the American League, in terms of service, is Early Wynn of the Chicago White Sox. Next September 2, Wynn will celebrate his 20th year in the majors.

Umpire Ed Runge of the American League served with the Canadian Navy on North Atlantic convoy duty during World War II.

88 Tee Off Today In Masters Event

By JERRY LISKA

Associated Press Sports Writer

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—Golf's most pedigreed practitioners, 88 strong, today storm the treacherous Augusta National course in the opening round of the silver anniversary Masters tournament.

Amidst the flowery splendor of dogwood and azaleas comes a relentless 72-hole stalking of the coveted title (not to mention a $17,000-plus top swag) which Arnold Palmer is favored to capture an unprecedented second straight time.

The field handicapped for this tourney rivaling the U. S. Open as a blue ribbon event—54 top American pros, 14 foreign pros and 20 fine amateurs—began teeing off at approximately 9:30 a.m., in cool cloudy weather.

Freddie McLeod, 78 and the 1908 U. S. Open winner, and Jack Hutchison, 77 and the 1920 PGA champion, led the teeing off in traditional fashion.

Last year, it took a birdie-birdie finish for Palmer to wrap up his second Masters with 282, on rounds of 67-73-72-70 over the par 72 wide sloping fairways and deeply-contoured greens.

However, the way practice rounds went over the lush 6,980-yard-course against stronger than usual winds, sunny and calm weather could bring a rare sub-280 winning total and perhaps the first triumph by a foreigner or an amateur. Ben Hogan's victorious 274 in 1953 is the record.

By Sunday afternoon's nationally televised windup, South African Gary Player, 1961's leading PGA money-winner, or an amateur like Jack Nicklaus, the amazing Ohio State strong boy current simon-pure champion Dean Beman or Billy Joe Patton, who gave fits to the 1954 Masters field, may have dethroned Palmer.

Hearings Continue On Cage Scandal

NEW YORK (AP)—The grand jury will hear testimony on the college basketball point-shaving scandal today for the third straight day.

Jurors adjourned Wednesday after two-and-a-half hours of testimony. Frank S. Hogan, district attorney, again declined to divulge the names of any witnesses.

Tigers Trip Pirates

Yankees Nip Cardinals 5-4

By ED WILKS

It's been a great spring for Dick Donovan, the one-time Chicago White Sox ace who gained a chance for a new life with the new Washington Senators. And at the moment, it must feel like the greatest spring ever for the big right-hander.

Dropped out of the starting rotation by the White Sox a year ago, and then grabbed by the Senators for $75,000 in the American League's player pool, Donovan pitched a full nine innings for Washington Wednesday and beat the Philadelphia Phillies 10-2 with a seven-hitter.

The victory padded the spring exhibition record, tops among American League clubs, to 14-8 for the Senators, who debut at home against the White Sox Monday.

Elsewhere Wednesday, the Detroit Tigers made it two in a row over Pittsburgh, whipping the world champion Pirates 12-8; the New York Yankees beat St. Louis on the fifth try, 5-4 in 11 innings; Cincinnati defeated Milwaukee 5-4, San Francisco stopped the Los Angeles Dodgers 2-0; the Boston Red Sox beat Chicago's Cubs 4-3, the White Sox defeated Kansas City 3-1, the Los Angeles Angels beat Cleveland 5-3 and Minnesota and Baltimore split a doubleheader, the Twins winning 7-4, then losing 5-4 in seven innings.

The Senators backed Donovan with a dozen hits, but needed only one while scoring five runs in the sixth inning against a wild Johnny Buzhardt.

Jim Bunning went nine innings for the second time this spring for the Tigers, although allowing 13 hits. Rookie Bubba Morton, Dick Gernert and Rocky Colavito hit home runs off loser Vinegar Bend Mizell and Bobby Shantz.

After Bill Skowron kept the Yankees in the game, driving in the first four runs with a double and three-run homer, slumping Roger Maris singled home the winning run off Ronnie Kline.

Southpaw Mike McCormick and Stu Miller combined for a six-hit job that handed the Dodgers their first shutout of the spring. Don Blasingame produced the run the Giants needed in the fifth inning with his first home run of the spring, off Stan Williams.

Don Buddin, back after a two-week bout with an allergy, hammered a home run and drove in another run with a single for the Red Sox.

The White Sox made fine pitching by Early Wynn and Gerry Staley pay off when Ed Rakow walked in the winning run in the eighth inning.

Springfield Faces Hershey In Calder Cup Playoff Finals

By The Associated Press

The defending playoff champion Springfield Indians who skated away from the American Hockey League field during the regular season will meet the Hershey Bears in the finals of the Calder Cup playoffs starting Saturday night on their home ice.

The Bears bounded into the finals with a 5-4 sudden-death, second overtime triumph over the Buffalo Bisons in Buffalo Wednesday night. The hard-won victory made a sweep for the Bears of four straight in the best-of-seven competition.

The Indians the night before turned the same trick, beating the Cleveland Barons in straight games.

Willie Marshall of the Bears cracked the Buffalo net at 21 minutes, 57 seconds of the sudden-death period to end the Bisons' hopes of extending the series.

Recreation Leaders To Attend Meeting

C. F. "Rusty" Tomlinson, superintendent of parks and recreation, and Tom Butler, his assistant, will attend the Great Lakes District Conference on Recreation at Muskegon, Mich., April 11-14. Recreation personnel from six states—Ohio, Indiana, Michigan, Illinois, Wisconsin and Minnesota—will attend the conference. Tomlinson has been asked to take charge of a panel discussion on administrative problems.

Bye Bye BOGIES

BASIC STANCE

Written for Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

The stance, or setup, is the biggest thing in golf.

Stand facing the ball with the club—use a wood for this lesson—so the clubhead reaches the ball comfortably with the hands hanging naturally from the shoulders as you bend slightly forward from the hips. Set the feet, the toes slightly turned out, about as wide apart as the shoulders and in a line parallel to flight.

Facing the ball squarely with both feet in what is known as a square stance. The ball should be slightly toward the left foot. Too wide a stance will make it impossible to complete the turn away from the ball, destroying any chance of grooving the arc of the swing.

The most important phase of the stance, one too often overlooked by the beginner, is what we call sitting down to the ball. This consists of flexing the knees slightly, not floppy, but relaxed, and with the weight slightly back.

As I point out in my recorded lessons, Hear How to Play Golf with Bob Rosburg, this should CLUBHEAD reaches the ball comfortably with the hands hanging naturally from the shoulders as you bend just slightly forward, relaxed.

give you a feeling of being well anchored to the ground, once you've settled comfortably into it.

No More Free Suits for Homers At Crosley Field

CINCINNATI (AP)—New parking around Crosley Field may bring more fans to Cincinnati Red games, but it means the end of free suits for power hitters.

For years the laundry building outside the left field fence carried an advertisement offering a free suit to sluggers whose home runs hit the sign. The tailor paid off many a suit, including several to veteran outfielder Wally Post of the Reds.

But the laundry building was razed recently for a parking lot and a 40-foot screen has gone up atop the left field wall to protect the cars from home run balls. If they hit the screen and the ball falls in the park, the'll still be genuine home runs, however.

Dodgers Cut Eight Players From Roster

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — The Dodgers have cut eight players from their squad and are just about to place sore-armed relief pitcher Ed Roebuck on the voluntary retired list.

Carl Warwick, a fleet outfielder, is to replace Roebuck on the roster, which is down to 28 players.

Whittled from the squad Wednesday was Phil Ortega, sent to Spokane. Also going to Spokane, a Dodger farm club, are first baseman Tim Harkness, pitcher Rick Warren and outfielder Al Norris. The Omaha club got the shortstop Dick Tracewski, outfielder Shelby Brodsky and pitcher Bill Hunter. Thad Tillotson, another pitcher, went to Atlanta.

ZIT DAWG ANYONE?

If you are bored on bus rides, challenging the guy in the next seat to a game of "Zit Dawg" the great new contest developed in Axton, Va., and being popularized in Florida by J. C. Martin, the White Sox rookie third baseman. No betting, just keep score please. It's simple. Every time you spot a dog, you sing out, "Zit, dawg!" That's short for "see it". The guy who finds the most dogs wins. Big and little dogs all count one point. The Sporting News warns.

QUESTIONS-ANSWERS

Q--From what point did De Soto first view the Mississippi River?
A--Supposedly, from the site of Memphis, Tenn., in 1541.
Q--Does the Bible clarify whether or not Jesus had brothers?
A--Several references to the "brothers" of Jesus occur in the New Testament, but there is a lack of agreement on what the word "brother" means in this instance.
